KELLY SINGS WAY TO SUCCESS

Tom Kelly, the new baritone at the Bijou, is the kind of man to pack the big house. That's what he'll do this week with the songs that he is master of. Kelly made his debut before a lot of people waiting to criticize him, but he sang splendidly and should get large audiences throughout the week of his stay.

Many local people remember Kelly when he was the star of the team of Kelly & Violette.

POLICE COURT

One of the most important cases that came up for trial this morning in police court was that of illicit sale of liquor by George Davis, otherwise known as "Phony" Davis.

The prosecution put liquor inspector W. P. Fennell on the stand, and proved that the defendant sold liquor to a certain woman for 50 cents.

Fennell, who watched the transaction, jumped on Davis and placed him under arrest at his house on Richards street.

According to the evidence adduced in court, Davis attempted to hit Fennell with a bottle of liquor, which the former subsequently threw out of the window. A glass of beer was offered in evidence this morning in court, and it is expected that Judge Monsarrat will render his decision tomorrow morning. Davis was represented by Attorney L. J. Straus.

Joaquin Silva, who was up for selling liquor without a license, had his case nolle prossed. Manuel Silva and Frank Ornela, also charged with selling liquor unlicensed by Fennell, had their cases continued until October 4.

The case against Hung Heng, Chinaman, who was arrested yesterday for driving a vehicle without first obtaining a license, was stricken from the calendar, the defendant having obtained a license to do business.

J. Silva, charged with drunkenness, forfeited his bail money. Pun Soon Hui and Hakka each paid a fine of $2 and costs of court for getting drunk in public places.

There is little present time but one applicant for his position, if the vacancy should come soon—John A. Kealoha of Honolulu, the principal of the Ahunui school. He evidently believes that the life of a police official is a more satisfactory one than that of a school teacher for the salary of the deputy amounts to only $75 per month, which is probably little more than his present pay, and the tenure of the deputy's position is dependent entirely upon the favor of the sheriff.

TWO GOATS FIGURE IN SERIOUS AFFRAY

Lieutenant J. A. Rogers of the 20th Infantry has made his deposition in the case in which Don Nichols, a teamster, and Bert Dunlap, a private, got into trouble at Fort Shafter and in which the former is alleged to have used a knife.

From the testimony it appears that the lieutenant and the teamster had an interest in the two goats over which all the trouble arose and that he was going away he gave his share to Nichols. The latter said that he had cut Dunlap. Rogers further stated that Dunlap kept repeating that he would get even with Nichols for cutting him.

Lieutenant if he could have the goats and was told that Nichols had them.

The lieutenant stated that Dunlap had been drinking that day but that he was not drunk. Nichols had come to him and told him that Dunlap had the two goats and wanted him to see that they were given back without any trouble.

How the fight started, he did not know but he saw both men soon after. Nichols had a cut on the chin and also on the cheek and he also had the knife in his hand with which he was going away he gave his share to Nichols. The latter said that he had cut Dunlap. Rogers further stated that Dunlap kept repeating that he would get even with Nichols for cutting him.

The case comes up again on October 10 when it will be set for trial.

WHARF FOR KIHAI—AFTER 2 YEARS

Maui will have to wait two years more for a wharf, and when the wharf is built, it will be at Kihai, according to the inside reports of the harbor commission.

The wharf issue has stirred up Valley Island residents considerably. McGregor's landing being a strong contender for the wharf site, but it is understood now that Kihai has been practically picked for the wharf.

Only $9,000 is now available for the Kihai wharf, which is responsible for the informal decision of the commissioners to do nothing at this time. The next legislature will be asked for twenty or thirty thousand dollars more and then Kihai will be the site of one of the best structures in the Territory.

Benjamin Asan has filed his answer to the charge of desertion filed against him by his wife in the Circuit Court. He denies the allegations.

Col. Knox says that George Davis falsifies when he says that he approves of the colonel for governor.
